W. H. Eves Resigns Hospital Post

Newmarket — Four directors were appointed at the annual meeting of the York County hospital board on Monday night. W. A. Spear, G. M. Byers and A. N. Belugin were appointed for three-year terms and W. H. Eves for one year in place of Gordon Manning whose resignation was accepted Monday night. Election of officers for the board will be held at a later meeting.

Mr. Eves who has been one of the directors since the York County hospital was started and president for about ten years, said that he did not wish to carry on the office of president in the future. Mr. Eves said, "I came on the board when it was first started when Dr. Dales' house was being rented as a hospital while the new building was under construction. I have seen the hospital grow to what it is today. Nine years ago I retired from business and I have been working just as hard ever since." He said he would like to be of any assistance he could but would rather give up the presidency.

A letter from Gordon Manning asked the board to accept his resignation because of the pressure of other work.

Mr. Eves has been long a servant to the town. He was on town council for 16 years, five years as mayor. He served on the school board for 18 years, on the hospital board since it started and about ten years as president. He was chairman of the house committee on the hospital board when the new Davis Memorial wing was built. Certain construction was taken over by the hospital board at that time, such as the entrance, boiler rooms, and heating plant and Mr. Eves supervised the work.

Red Cross Sewing At Trinity March 8

Newmarket — On Tuesday, March 8, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. quilting and sewing will take place for the Newmarket Red Cross at Trinity United church. The need is still great for this work and all assistance is required. There will be work for everyone. Lunch will be served for a nominal fee.

Newmkt. Dramatic Club To Present Blithe Spirit

Newmarket — A Noel Coward play, Blithe Spirit, of which there was a movie version a few years ago, is being produced by the Newmarket Dramatic club next week, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the town hall.

No Appointments Made To Court

Newmarket — With three vacancies still open on the Court of Revision, there has been no material change in Newmarket's "unprecedented" assessment difficulties. Chairman of the court, Dr. L. W. Dales, and members Arleigh Armstrong and A. N. Belugin, were removed from the court by council when it was learned that they were not eligible to sit. Mr. Armstrong is protesting the disqualification but there has been no decision on his protest as yet.

The members were removed on Monday of last week, a day before the court was to meet again. The assessors had been earlier summoned to the court for the Tuesday session.

Some weeks ago, members of the court had questioned the assessors under oath regarding the industrial assessments. The assessor said they had not assessed industry. The court ordered them to assess industry and the assessors sent their resignations to council but council has yet to act on it.

The legality of the court's actions has been questioned, but it has not been put to legal test. The court, in its turn, has questioned the manner in which council accepted an increase in industrial assessment last year of from 60 to 90 percent. It is claimed by some court members that industry, in addition to paying its regular taxes, paid some $10,000 more than was required. Charges were laid against the five town assessors, B. W. Hunter, Harold Eaton, J. B. Waterhouse, Ross Howlett and Frank Doyle of wilful neglect of duty by Miss Joanna Jansen who said she was acting on behalf of 12 ratepayers. The case has been remanded until March 9.

Legal authorities say there is no precedent for Newmarket's assessment difficulties. The assessment of revision has still before it appeals yet to be heard and until the assessment roll can be closed, the tax rate cannot be struck. One possibility, should there be no early solution to Newmarket's difficulties, will be to use last year's assessment roll. Another will be to finance town expenditures by borrowing and levy a double tax next year with no taxes this year.

The assessment dispute has brought Newmarket national publicity and in the town itself, has been the source of daily rumor and distrust.

New Hospital Hours Save Crowding, Board Told

Newmarket — The new visiting hours at York County hospital are from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Since there have been a number of complaints from citizens about the shorter visiting hours, it was asked at the annual meeting of the York County hospital board on Monday night, why they had been established. Miss V. Pearson, hospital superintendent, said that it had been at the request of the doctors, the main reason being that patients were being set back by too many visitors. Too much congestion was caused by visitors in the hospital, said Miss Pearson.

Dr. J. G. Cook, present at the meeting, said that he had not heard about the new hours previously but that he was pleased that they had been brought in. Dr. Cook said that visitors often "swarm in" to see a patient and another patient in the next bed might be very sick. "It's the patient in the next bed who always suffers," he said.

Frank Courtney asked if the Sunday hours could be lengthened to two hours from 2 to 4 instead of 3 to 4. Miss Pearson said that it would save much congestion if they were left at one hour. "One criticism I have heard," said W. H. Eves, "is that one-hour visits cause more congestion and crowding than longer hours."

There have been no restrictions put on private room visiting hours and there has been no restriction on mothers visiting children in the hospital.

Newmarket — Boy Scouts and Cubs and their fathers crowded the Scout hall Friday night for the annual Father and Son dinner when encouraging reports on the camp site fund campaign were heard, and appeals made for continued public support. Badges won by the boys were presented, and at a meeting of the group committee after the dinner, James Law was presented with a "Thank You" badge for his services to Scouting in Newmarket.

Seated at the head table was Mayor Joseph Vale who praised the work of the Scouts and encouraged them in their campaign for the camp site. New group committee officers are: Percy Hutchinson, chairman, Grant Dillane, vice chairman, Dr. C. S. Gilbert, secretary-treasurer, Rev. CELEBRATES 99 YEARS

Life Nowadays Too Rushing, Miss Neighborliness - Armitage

Newmarket — Silas Armitage, 21 Timothy St., was 99 years old on Friday. Born just outside of Newmarket on the ancestral farm at Eagle and Yonge Sts., part of which is now the new housing project, he went to school here and farmed at his father's farm. After giving up farming, he was appointed superintendent of the York County home and in 1919 he retired in Newmarket.

"I didn't want much of a fuss on my birthday this year," commented Mr. Armitage on Monday but he said that reporters came up from Toronto, "and I couldn't turn them down after they came so far."

He brought out an old day book which belonged to his great grandfather. Amos Armitage, who first settled at the Eagle and Yonge farm in 1804. Records were kept of all money transactions, the first entry dated in the nine month, 1804. Currency was in pounds, shillings and pence. Months and days of the week were in numbers instead of names, Wednesday, for example, being called third day.

He said that life is much faster now and he misses the neighborliness of the old days when friends dropped in without having to have a special invitation.

Mr. Armitage keeps up with the current events and asked about municipal affairs. He said that he thought artificial ice would be a good thing for the town. He enquired about Fairley Lake in its present condition and thought that "the assessment affair was a bad mess for the town."

Prescription for Living

To marry at an early age is the best thing, according to Mr. Armitage. He said that a woman helps in over half the battle and that it is important to choose the right one. He thought that the best thing to do was to settle down to a home, join the church and live a temperate life.

When he asked about the Fairley Lake project, he said he remembered when there was a much larger river there. He recalled Sutherland's mill which stood where the Office Specialty factory is now. When the Specialty started up, it was no bigger than a house and just more or less a saw mill, he said. "Newmarket has grown a lot and I have no doubt that it will extend right out to Yonge St. before long."

Although he planned no celebration, Mr. Armitage said that friends were good to him. Among other kindnesses, he said he received flowers from the town and a birthday cake shipped by air from Fort William.

St. Andrew's Church Has 115th Anniversary

Newmarket — St. Andrew's Presbyterian church celebrated its 115th anniversary on Sunday with special services in the morning and evening. Rev. Henry Matthews, M.A., minister of Davenport Road Presbyterian church, Toronto, was the guest preacher. In the evening he gave a summary of his recent trip to Europe telling of the work being done there by the Protestant churches. Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau, B.D., S.T.D., took charge of both services.

Miss L. Little and Miss Mary Lou Little sang a duet at the morning service. In the evening a duet was sung by Mrs. Little and Lawrence Wright. Special music was provided by the choir under the direction of Miss Mac Patterson, A.T.C.M. The guest soloist was Miss Marlene Boudreau who sang as her selections, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," by Flaxington Harker, and "My Redeemer and My Lord," by Dudley Bucks.

Large congregations joined in worship at both services.

SPECIAL SLIDES

Aurora — Lent opened on Wednesday, March 2, with service in Trinity church. There will be slides for the children each Monday afternoon after school in Trinity hall. All children are invited to attend. They will be in the charge of Rev. Whatmough.

Silas Armitage looks over his birthday cake as he prepares to celebrate his 99 years. Life is too rushed nowadays," he observed.

Mrs. James Sutherland Has 101st Birthday

Newmarket — Mrs. James Sutherland, Prospect Ave., quietly celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday with her daughter, grandson and great-grandchildren.

Last year she celebrated her 100th birthday, being the first centenarian in Newmarket since Sir William Mulock. She was visited by many friends from town and received many flowers. She was visited by Mrs. J. M. Stevenson, Barrie, then nearing her 97th birthday who was the oldest visitor of the day. Mayor Jos. Vale and Reeve Arthur D. Evans presented Mrs. Sutherland with flowers on behalf of the town. She was active and looked much younger than her years.

Today, a year later, Mrs. Sutherland enjoys her same good health and still is interested in her friends and relatives. She said that she had enough celebration, pictures and write-ups for one person's lifetime last year but her many friends and interested citizens will be glad to know that she is enjoying good health.

It is recalled that last year Mrs. Sutherland received congratulatory messages from the King and Queen, the Premiers Mackenzie King and George Drew. Born Anna Simpson, she came from Inverness, Scotland, to Canada when she was a little girl. She is a cousin of the late Robert Simpson. She married James Sutherland more than 70 years ago. Her husband died in 1920.

Newmarket — Percy Myers' Taxi company will start operations when cars on order are delivered.

Hospital Shows Higher Deficit

Newmarket — "The hospital financial report shows an operating loss for the year but we hope that things will be better in 1949," said W. A. Spear, secretary-treasurer, at the annual meeting of the York County hospital board Monday night.

"Operating costs for hospitals have gone up higher than ever this last year and at the same time the occupancy has decreased," Mr. Spear said. There was an operating loss of $24,902.15. Less municipal grants, the deficit was $18,602.15. In 1947 the deficit was $15,465.13. Miss V. Pearson, superintendent of York County hospital, gave an annual report in which she said that there were 2,708 patients last year. An average of 8,164 meals per month were served. There were 927 operations performed against 1,033 the year before. The superintendent said that the new laundry system that has been installed is satisfactory. There are about 20 nurses on the permanent staff of the hospital.

The following is a comparative summary of the operating account for years ending December 31, 1947, and 1948:

	1947	1948
Earned Revenue	$106,750.79	$119,233.73

A second meeting with election of officers is planned for the near future. The date will be announced next week.

All-Out Drive For Public Support

By GEORGE HASKETT

Newmarket — It's official. The discussions have been completed. Monday, March 7, has been designated by the ways and means committee in co-operation with the recreation commission as the opening day in its drive to raise the necessary funds to install artificial ice in the Newmarket memorial arena.

The committee, meeting at Pickering College Sunday, indicated it is out to raise its share by voluntary subscription. The town council recently unanimously passed a resolution to match the money raised by the commission, subject to the approval of the municipal board.

The recreation commission had before it a further proposal by the town council to have the whole cost met by debenture. The commission is advising the council that the original proposal will be the wisest course in order to obtain the benefits of voluntary labor, material discounts and other public offers at hand.

Horace Hiscox, secretary of the ways and means committee, dealt with a letter received from Lex MacKenzie, M.P.P. for North York, in answer to the request for a provincial grant towards artificial ice. A bill to provide such grants has been given second reading by the provincial house and will likely be passed soon. Newmarket then would be in line to receive a grant up to $5,000.

Committee chairmen named to carry on the campaign: radio, Frank Bowser, Mrs. N. L. Mathews; publicity, Geo. Haskett, John Meyer, Jack Struthers, Del Gibney. The factory committee will be headed by Dewey Kuhns, Canadian Hoffman general manager, with Alex. Belugin, Frank Courtney, Ted Gould, H. D. Moore and Ken McInnis his chief aides. The executive committee of chairman Fred Thompson and vice chairmen Art Lord and Frank Courtney were delegated to have the necessary printing and banking facilities set up. C. R. Blackstock will head the committee to tie in the schools of the district. Every organization in town will be asked for their co-operation. Surrounding municipalities and Newmarket Old Boys are also to be solicited. In this manner, it was felt every part of the community would be a part of the effort. Already at hand were several offers of assistance from town organizations such as the Women's Institute and Home and School club.

J. B. Walker reported back to the committee on the operations of the Barrie arena. Barrie, since the installation of artificial ice, has shown a sizeable profit each year. A draft was passed to be forwarded to the town council, outlining proposed plan of operation of the arena to assure them that the children of Newmarket and town organizations would have first call on the facilities for recreation at the arena after artificial ice was a reality.

So the go ahead signal is up. Donations will be taken at any bank in town. Only by everyone putting his shoulder to the wheel will the project be a success. Let's go!

PRESCRIPTIONS

THE PHYSICIAN

THE NURSE

THE PHARMACIST

The physician, the nurse, the pharmacist are each concerned, though in a different way, with the use of drugs. Their inter-relationship can be summarized in this way: The physician prescribes, the pharmacist presents, the nurse administers. The physician examines the patient and diagnosis the disease. If a drug is indicated, he prescribes a suitable remedy and directs how it shall be taken and in what quantity. The pharmacist then prepares and presents the remedy in suitable form. The patient may be able to administer the drug himself but when administration requires special knowledge and techniques, the skill of a trained nurse is required.

These three people represent three important links in the human chain that brings our modern medication to wage war against disease and bring health and happiness to the patient.

Should your doctor prescribe, we invite you to confidently bring your prescription to us.

FORMER PICKERING HEAD

McCulley Key Man In Penal Reform

Canada's new prison reform program is described in last week's issue of the Financial Post and of particular interest to Newmarket is the attention drawn to Joseph McCulley, senior deputy commissioner of penitentiaries. Mr. McCulley was formerly headmaster of Pickering College and was appointed deputy commissioner in the early fall of 1947.

The Financial Post outlines the program from a report tabled in the House of Commons recently, by Maj. Gen. Ralph B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries who was appointed in September, 1947. In effect, says the Post, General Gibson has become a deputy minister of justice, responsible to the minister. With him was appointed Joseph McCulley as senior deputy commissioner. On him fell the responsibility of drawing up a training program for penitentiary staffs. Deputy Commissioner Louis P. Gendreau was appointed and charged with developing medical and psychiatric services.

"The days are past," says Mr. McCulley, "when the best we could do to keep prisoners occupied was to give them a sledge hammer and a hunk of granite to pound." Prisoners are classified according to offence, character and rehabilitation and can work on prison farms, industries, or take such vocational training as brickmasonry, carpentry, plumbing and sheet metal working.

Better training and greater inducements are given for prison staffs. It has been Mr. McCulley's job to set up training schools for these men. Salaries have been increased but the staff turnover is still large and it may be that further inducements will have to be offered to attract the kind of staff that will make a permanent career in the prison service. Dr. Gendreau has been giving particular attention to special problems connected with sex offenders and drug addicts and the plans call for greater extension in psychiatric work.

After-care is not a part of the over-all plan in prison reform according to the Post. Explains Mr. McCulley, "The last thing a man wants when he's served his time is to have any further contact with law or government officials." It is for this reason that the work is left to private agencies such as the Canadian Penal Association. The association's claim is that only one in four or five of the prisoners who come to them "go sour."

Mardi Gras, Shrove Tuesday, came this week, and a good portion of the world was celebrating. New Orleans always has a real Mardi Gras — they start preparing for next year's celebration as soon as Ash Wednesday dawns, which you know is the day after. Ash Wednesday is the first day of Lent, and on Mardi Gras, or as we know it better "Pancake Tuesday," you are supposed to clear away from your "larder" (what a queer old-fashioned word!) of all rich foods, for Ash Wednesday is a solemn fast day and in olden times they combined all rich foods into huge pancakes.

The name Mardi Gras is French for "Fat Tuesday," translating literally. We keep up with the old custom and have pancakes, griddle-cakes, waffles, or whatever you prefer to call them. And we have plenty of maple syrup to go with them!

Some folks prefer brown sugar and lemon, and that certainly is good eating, but for a Canadian, like myself, born and brought up here where the best maple syrup and maple sugar in the world is made, nothing can ever quite take the place of our grand Ontario maple syrup. I hope Quebec isn't listening.

But I still maintain nothing ever tasted quite so good as maple syrup made by Joshua Stickwood, from Bogartown, in my younger days, and Charles Lewis and sons. And I have never forgotten, when in my teens, being at a "sugaring-off" party given by the late Anne Phillips Wilson, daughter of Mr. Aca Phillips of Yonge St., in the maple grove on their farm. Oh the joy of pouring a spoonful into the "maple sugar" snow — that comes early in the spring — and making "Jack-wax," so sweet and sticky and toothsome. I've never forgotten that party!

BELHAVEN

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Kidd on Tuesday afternoon, March 8, at 2.30. Mrs. Lloyd Kay is convenor for historical research and asks that each member bring an antique with its story. A full program is being prepared. An historical spot in the community is the roll-call. Hostesses are Mrs. Yorke, Mrs. E. Willoughby and Mrs. W. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wight, Keswick, gave a family birthday party on February 24 in honor of Mrs. Selby Fairbairn, Mrs. Wight's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Fairbairn and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Crittenden, Unionville, on Saturday.

KESWICK

It was Youth Sunday in the United church February 20 when the centre seats of the church were occupied with different groups of young people including Boy Scouts in uniform, C.G.I. T. girls, also little ones from Sunday-school classes making a very impressive sight. The sermon for them by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Brown was entitled, Super Man.

The temperance rally in the church on the evening of February 23 was interesting and well attended.

People are still talking about the excellent music in the United church last Sunday morning by the quartet of Mr. Ernie Taylor, Mr. Ken Boothby, Mr. F. Heaton and Bob Atcheson. Just where will you go to hear Come Home sung so well? A large congregation was present to enjoy the entire service.

Ladies are asked to reserve the date of March 9 for the W.A. meeting of the United church which will include a miscellaneous shower to be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Richmond, just south of Keswick. Ladies desiring transportation from Keswick will find the bus leaves Keswick at 1.34 p.m. and there will be a north-bound bus around 4.45. Please note: the meeting will commence at 2 p.m.

The World Day of Prayer service will be held in the Christian church Friday, March 4. The service will commence at 2.30 p.m. Our local area includes Mount Pleasant, Ravenshoe and both Keswick churches.

(Too late for last week)

The World's Day of Prayer will be held in the Christian church Friday, March 4, at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. R. M. Brown will be in charge of the meeting.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

Last week, a 1,400-lb. Hereford cow jumped into a silo through a small door, about the size of this newspaper page and once in appeared quite loath to leave. That is understandable. Any cow that can jump through a silo door would be a proper fool to attempt the feat a second time. Having done the impossible, the only reasonable course would be to rest on her laurels and not put her legend to the second test. And that is just what "Grady," as her public promptly named her, did. She munched her cud with every semblance of bovine superiority within the confined but relatively comfortable quarters at the foot of the silo while outside the silo, Bill Mach, her owner, scratched his head and wondered how he could liquidate his $1,000 investment.

Bill was not alone in the head scratching. All over North America, the problem of freeing Grady was receiving the individual attention of thousands of arm-chair farmers. Suggestions poured in from 45 states and Canada. Hundreds came from miles around to view the problem at first hand. But nothing, it seemed, would do the job to the satisfaction of Mr. Mach and Grady. And then, when it appeared that all was lost, that either Bill Mach was going to lose a new silo or Grady was going to leave as steak, the farm editor of the Denver Post came flying to the rescue. His methods were simple. First, he had the unalterable conviction that if the cow had gone into the silo through the hole in the wall, she could get out of the silo through the same hole. That conviction is the real secret of his success. While others toyed with plans for removing the silo roof and hauling the cow through the top, or breaking a hole through the side of the silo and removing her that way, Ralph Partridge, the editor fellow, clung grimly to his belief that what went in could come out, all other factors being equal.

When Partridge added to this conviction, a supply of grease and a rope (which he was able to purchase in Oklahoma City only after much difficulty), the early liberation of the cow was guaranteed. First Grady was coated with grease, and then led to the opening. Her fore legs were put through first. Then a vet gave her a shot of nembutal with a hypodermic to quieten her nerves.

With Partridge pushing from inside the silo and Mach and friends hauling from the outside, Grady was slid halfway through the opening. Then Grady gave a heave and a ho on her own and shot out of the hole and into the yard like a watermelon seed from between the fingers. A continent relaxed as the news was flashed to the waiting world.

And what does all this prove? What is the moral? For one thing, it demonstrates the child-like interest we all have for such improbable situations as a cow in a silo. For another, it is a triumph for Mr. Partridge, the man who believed that what goes in must come out. And finally, what of Grady? "Well," says the owner, "I believe she has earned peace and quiet for the rest of her life. After all, she's had more excitement than most cows."

The Editorials:

Judicial Enquiry Needed

The confidence of Newmarket citizens in their administration has been sadly shaken by the manner in which the re-assessment and its attendant problems have been dealt with. Confusion and doubt have been encouraged to such an extent that a final decision on the issue, if made by those involved in it, will be suspect. No community can flourish in such an atmosphere.

If it is to be respected, a decision on Newmarket's future course in regard to assessment must be made from outside the community. Council has power to arrange this. Under Chapter 266, section 266 of The Municipal Act, council may ask by resolution that a judge of county court conduct an inquiry into "any matter connected with the good government of the municipality or any part of its public business".

If Newmarket is to be cured of this creeping paralysis of suspicion with which it has become infected, there is no alternative to such an enquiry. In its own interest, in the interest of all of the town, the council should ask for an enquiry at the earliest date.

Full Out For Ice Plant

The ways and means committee to advise on the campaign to raise funds for artificial ice has rejected the council's offer to debenture for the whole cost of the project. A campaign for contributions to cover at least half of the cost will open next Monday. The other half of the cost has been promised by council. We believe the committee chose the wisest course. The council's offer would have deprived the project of the many generous offers of help and material as well as removing it from the sphere of community effort and making it a burden on the tax-payers alone.

There are those who believe that it will be impossible to raise the necessary money by contributions. The estimated total, including a possible grant from the province and excluding the saving represented by promises of skilled labor and discounts on the cost of material, is $25,000. The skeptics say that it is too much. Yet Mount Forest, a village of some 1,300 population, raised $35,000 for its arena without incurring any debts. Other centres have made just as enviable records. If Mount Forest can do it, certainly Newmarket should be able to.

Already the Legion Auxiliary has a euchre planned—part proceeds for the rink. The Home and School Association is conducting a sale of used clothing—proceeds for the rink. An April exhibition is planned by the handiwork group—proceeds for the rink. And plans are in the making in most other town organizations to contribute their share to the success of the project. There are pledges for individual contributions as well as plans for pay-roll savings similar to the victory bond plans of the war by which individuals can swell the total of their donations by small weekly contributions.

Artificial ice is a project which has been hanging fire in Newmarket for years. Now there is an active, hard-working group leading the campaign to make artificial ice a reality by next winter. Let's make it a success by all of us pitching in with our share of the cost. Let's show what we can do.

Birthdays

Mr. Silas Armitage celebrated his 99th birthday last Friday. Early last month, Mr. and Mrs. George Lawson, 95 and 91 respectively, Mount Albert, celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary. And in Mount Albert, Mrs. Mary Quibell will celebrate her 96th birthday March 9. Mrs. James Sutherland celebrated her 101st birthday March 2, and Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander, Brownhill, will be 105 March 14.

Other anniversaries of many years standing have been celebrated in North York but we doubt that the birthdays and anniversaries celebrated in and around Newmarket within the space of a few weeks can be equalled anywhere else. North York can indeed be proud of the celebrants and will join in an unanimous wish that they enjoy many more years of happiness.

Regrassing Against Erosion

In hilly, well-watered country such as is found in this section of the county gulleys caused by the run-off of rains and melted snow are a common sight. If paid no attention by the farmer, such gulleys can spread with succeeding wet spells reducing tillable land and removing top soil. Many farmers attempt to control these gulleys by filling them in with top soil from the sides. If the gully follows the course of the natural flow of water, the fill will be washed away the following spring.

A report from the dominion experimental station at Swift Current, Sask., recommends the regrassing of such water courses as the most effective way to end erosion. The report says:

"The first step in reclamation is the shaping of the gully. It should be made 'saucer shaped'. Sharp bends in the water course should be eliminated. This can be accomplished by using a one-way disc to move the soil towards the centre of the gully. Large or more severe cases are better handled with a blade grader. After an even shape has been obtained a seed bed should be worked up and a sod forming grass seeded with a nurse crop of oats or wheat. Where applicable, the most suitable grass is bromo or red fescue.

"Reclamation of gullies or regrassing of water courses is a 'must' for those areas subject to water erosion damage."

Investing In Health

Social security measures are a requirement of good government. The state has a certain amount of responsibility for the sick and the aged. However, there is a limit to what the government can do, and what is wise for the government to do. So far, no party has shown the courage to define those limits. The public looks to the government increasingly as a super-welfare agency, and all three parties encourage this by bidding outrageously for the electorate's favor, as in the last provincial election, with promises of bigger and better payments of bonuses and pensions if elected.

A system of state medicine is one of the measures often urged as the next step towards a "complete program of social security". The immediate benefits of state medicine, in the form of care for the sick which has been withheld because of cost, are obvious. But in the long run, would state medicine really benefit the nation? We doubt it. State medicine is concerned primarily with the care of the sick. Would not it be more practical to spend the cost of financing state medicine on research into the prevention of sickness?

There are, at the present time, many agencies who offer some protection against the cost of illness. Insurance companies offer sick and accident policies. There are hospital plans for the cost of hospitalization, both private, public and co-operative in form. These protective measures cost the subscriber money to be sure, but it is not a heavy cost, and there are few who cannot meet it. In addition, reliance upon these agencies places the responsibility for the welfare of the individual where it belongs, upon individual. In making use of these agencies, he is acting of his own initiative, exercising his freedom of choice. He is not being made the ward of a benevolent government with subsequent withering of his powers of initiative and choice.

Not long ago, there were campaigns for funds for cancer research, for tuberculosis prevention and cure. Private individuals have endowed disease research centres. But for all the generosity of the public, research is never with funds completely adequate for the task. The very nature of the work makes expense an uncertain quality. Were greater emphasis placed upon research expenditures by the government, and less upon subsidized treatment the benefits would be lasting instead of temporary.

On To New Tasks

Mr. A. L. "Archie" McKenzie has left his position as assistant agricultural representative for York County to farm his own land near Stratford in Perth county. He will be missed by all who knew him and he will carry with him the best wishes of the host of friends he has made during his two-year stay in the county.

Mr. McKenzie has made an enviable contribution to farm work while here, particularly among the junior farmers. His work with calf and grain clubs was climaxed by the high marks teams coached by him have won in provincial contests. In 1917, his Markham Calf Club team placed second by only two points of 1,200 in competition with 51 teams. In 1918, another team from the same club placed third, only nine marks behind the leaders.

In grain club contests, his Woodbridge team was second place out of 32 teams in 1917 and in 1918, his team won the provincial contest in a field of 28. The same team missed top dominion honors by only 3 1/2 marks out of a possible 1,200.

York county has been fortunate in its appointment of agriculture representatives and Mr. McKenzie was in that tradition. In company with all who knew him, we regret his loss to the county while tendering our personal good wishes for his future.

Office Cat reports

Catnips By Ginger

I went to the city, boss, with Dingbert, our advertising man, the other day and we visited the parliament buildings. I recommend the parliament buildings to anyone who wants a change of atmosphere; it will work wonders with you. It takes your mind off your own problems and when it's all over, you'll be glad you're no matter who you are.

As we drove up the front drive, a big Packard with a Daschund wheelbase and a crown insignia slinked past us and wheeled in front of the steps. Dingbert stopped the car and we gazed like the suburbanites we are as a grey form with a Homborg hat moved with ambassadorial correctness from the front door down the steps and into the long sedan. The Packard moved along. We pulled ourselves together and parked the car.

Inside the front door, we paused at an office and without reading the sign on the door, we asked the clerk, who was reading a racing form, where the information bureau was. "Information bureau? What's that? I don't think we have one of those in our department. Must be some other department. You'd better try another department."

We found the information desk and thence proceeded to the remote department we were looking for, down a long, dark corridor behind some reconstruction scaffolding.

"Evidently," said Dingbert, stumbling over a two-by-four, "this department is trying to screen out its customers. Sort of the fittest survive, like."

When we attained a beach head inside the department, we were further screened through a half-dozen graded clerks. Finally we found a man in a special slot, just there to suit our purpose. By this time we were steeped in bureaucracy.

Two hours later we retreated from the department but we had the information we were after. By now it was time for lunch and Dingbert and I unpacked sandwiches. We made ourselves comfortable on a show case containing a ton and a half of Northern Ontario in one of the great halls and watched the politicians go by. You can always tell who the politicians are because they wear conservative suits, the coat tails of which are wrinkled from long hours of legislation.

One of the politicians was sitting on a staircase opposite us knitting a pair of plaid socks. He wouldn't tell us why but I noticed that there were holes in the heels of the ones he was wearing.

I had a bit of a time with Dingbert who was the cause of our embarrassing withdrawal. First, while we were eating lunch, he kept reaching inside the show case trying to scratch the gold quartz out of the large hunk of Northern Ontario. His finger nails were torn to shreds and I reprimanded him for his greediness.

Later, while my back was turned, he was climbing up a pedestal on which was a bust of Lord Chumley-Strath. Dingbert was attempting to put a press card in his hat. Tragedy ensued and to my horror, Dingbert and the bust toppled over the staircase and rolled to the bottom taking the sock-knitting politician with them.

Another politician came waddling down the hall and cried forth, "They're communist insurgents! Zounds, I shall make something of this in the Legislature!" We fled.

And so, tired though happy, after a strenuous day at the parliaments, we returned to our homes.

The Top Six Inches

The radio program, "What is your beef?" brings out many complaints but do these complaints get to the right people to do any good? What is the beef on the farm? We started out to find what the farmer thought and here are some of the things farmers talk about. "Why are the county buildings not out in the middle of the county?" One answer is the men attending county council would have to come home at night. A poll would favor moving the county building.

"Why was there such a poor attendance at the municipal school held at Newmarket last fall?" Some councils had only one out of five. Are these men so good they cannot be told? A man who had been in council, as reeve and deputy-reeve for some years, said, "If you want to stay in office, never pass your opinion on any subject whatever." Another man said "the less you say in county council, the better you get along," and we hear that anyone who knows the ropes at county council can get results, while some other man is no good at all.

What does this all mean? Someone must talk to do business. Do the people expect the men they choose not to be able to take part in a debate? What do we send men to council for? Just to fill a chair?

School for Democracy. We have new citizens in our county who are afraid to vote. They say they do not understand. We can tell these people that it is their right to choose by ballot whom they wish to represent them in parliament. But when men go to parliament and never get on their feet, how are we going to explain this to our new citizens? A vote held by the children in the school-room might help explain to the father and mother how to vote. Why should not the reeve and deputy-reeve come to the township hall and tell the people why they did or did not vote at county council. If they did not take part in the debate, why?

Why cannot our township council strike a rate to cover running expenses and any extra expense, to be brought before the people at the annual meeting? This would give the farmer a year to meet extra taxes. The way it is now, our tax slip comes in with extra expense added. This is the first we know that we have to pay more taxes. This could be worked out with a little thought by our council.

Two Classes of Farmers. We have two classes of farmers, those who stopped thinking when they left school and never got started again; and those who pass their opinion on every subject that comes along whether they are right or wrong. This last class can be corrected and education begins here. But the other class—we do not know what they think of them. There is no chance of helping them to form opinions. Are these farmers who never pass an opinion the ones we want as leaders? One man and woman are so busy making money that they do not know the names of the council men, did not know that last fall the three political parties held their convention and two picked new leaders. These people know every bond salesman for miles around.

Is it enough that we simply feed and shelter for our boys and girls or should we also have good discussions and books on good citizenship in our homes. We should get our discussions beyond our neighbors' faults. We should keep our subjects in touch with reality. We read about what is taking place in other neighborhoods and think "how nice." We want something to happen but we won't leave the easy chair and warm fire to make it happen. Remember, in the old reader, the frog that thought he could live just by opening his mouth? Cheerio.

"LETTERS FROM THE KREMLIN"

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

OTTAWA LETTER

by

"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

My daily mail brings many letters from the riding of North York and as I have said before I do appreciate the interest of members of all political parties in writing to me. My mail in a week covers a wide variety of subjects and many contain helpful and constructive suggestions. I try to answer all individually but when a number of enquiries reach me on a certain subject, I assume this particular problem may be bothering many who have not just got around to writing me so I plan to answer some such queries through this column.

One question which has come to me from many people relates to the post office. Some post office patrons, boxholders, have written with some feeling complaining that postmasters refuse to give them mail from their boxes on occasions when they have forgotten their keys. These letters come from widely separated centres so I wish to make it clear no definite criticism is levelled at any particular postmaster.

To settle the query, I visited the office of the postmaster general, the boss postmaster for Canada. This was his ruling: boxholders are expected to take their box keys with them to the post office when calling for mail as postal employees are not required to open doors except in cases of emergency, and then only when the person making the request is positively known to be the boxholder or his representative who habitually clears the box. A card bearing this information is periodically distributed to boxholders.

Forgetting Keys

From time to time postmasters have experienced considerable difficulty with people forgetting to bring their keys with them and an occasional courtesy extended by a postmaster or clerk in delivering mail to a boxholder who has failed once or twice for some reason to bring his key has degenerated into an abuse, so much so that nobody seemed to bother to unlock his own box. Patrons simply walked into the post office and asked the postmaster or one of the clerks to get their mail no matter at what other task they might be engaged. It can readily be realized that in this way a tremendous amount of valuable time was lost.

One of the advantages of having a post office box is that the boxholder may call at the post office at any time within office hours and have access to his mail without having to wait in line should there happen to be a number of patrons at the General Delivery wicket.

I am sure you will appreciate that when boxholders frequently arrive at the post office without their keys, the postmaster or clerk is quite within his rights if he courteously requests the boxholder to kindly exercise more care in that respect. On the other hand if it happens only on rare occasions, the postmaster or clerk should use discretion and oblige a patron who has inadvertently come to the post office without his key.

I am happy to say that I do not receive many anonymous letters. I do receive the occasional one and regret that I cannot answer the correspondent who has taken the trouble to write. This is unfortunate because very often there is an explanation, another side to the question which I would like to point out which would perhaps give the writer an entirely different and new view which might clear up his or her particular worry.

Throne Debate

The throne debate continued throughout the week and while it may seem a waste of time and money (as it is figured Parliamentary sittings cost $40 per minute) it is democracy in action. A country where there is not free speech, where the opposition is not free to criticize and scrutinize every act and every expenditure of the government, certainly is not the kind of country we want to live in.

A total of 125,515 persons immigrated to Canada in 1948. These people came from 51 countries of the world and included 30,450 from England, 9,836 from Scotland, 6,997 from Holland, 4,217 from Lithuania, 2,741 from Poland, 1,368 from Roumania, 7,393 from the U.S.A., 1,576 from Ireland, 1,326 from France and 3,016 from Newfoundland.

Hon. Paul Martin reported to the house this week on the progress made under the national health program inaugurated last year. The government program announced last year seeks to improve the facilities to relieve human suffering caused by disease and ill-health. Projects under the government-national health program are flowing into Ottawa at a rate of $200,000 a day. In January projects approved totalled $4,082,000. Since the inauguration of the government health program projects to the value of $13,000,000 have been approved. It is encouraging too that all nine provinces are co-operating in this national health plan which provides a broad program including:

(1) Federal grants totalling $625,000 to the provinces to make comprehensive surveys of the Canadian health scene.

(2) To strengthen and extend provincial health services, federal grants will be available each year for public health research and public health projects, to train professional health workers, to help crippled children, to fight venereal disease, to control tuberculosis, to strengthen cancer control campaigns, and to promote mental health.

(3) Great increases in hospital accommodation are being encouraged by annual grants to the provinces, totalling $13 million a year.

These grants make possible an additional expenditure of $30 million or more each year on Canada's hospitals and health services. This is almost as much money as was spent on health by all governments in Canada—federal, provincial and municipal—as recently as 1933. This program of federal health grants is twice as much on a per capita basis as the federal health grants program in the United States.

Fall Election

Observers around Capitol Hill are now predicting a fall election, or one as late as the summer of 1950. The legal life of this parliament could extend to the fall of 1950. It is likely that seven by-elections may be held in Newfoundland in May or June and that representatives from the new province may sit in on this session.

Miss Bobby Rosenfeld, sports writer, Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCann and Miss Marjorie McCann.

Foote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE

AURORA EDITOR

"Tis good news this week, very good news. The dark clouds of despondency have dispersed. And all because Lorenzo has re-entered my life. It all started last week. I was feeling blue. According to recent reports I was friendless, a victim of social ostracism. Then one night, as I sat alone and unwanted in my garret, crying tears of despair on the shoulder of my Chipendale and attempting to drown my fit of depression in long draughts of homogenized milk, a knock sounded at my door. "Ah!", I thought, "another bill collector." I took a long pull at my glass (milk), opened the door, and there was Lorenzo, my old friend, my pal.

Overcome, I beckoned to him to enter. He seemed to sense my mood. He removed his goloshes, coat and muffler and sat down. "Hi", he said. "What are you doing in these parts?" I countered. "I was passing through and thought I'd look you up," he replied. "Been here long, Lorenzo?" "No", he said. "Just a couple of days." "How come you're calling on me at this hour?" I persisted. "A fine guy you are," he said, highly incensed. "Wotta welcome after all these years."

"I come here primarily to pay you a social call," he continued, "and what happens? You're sceptical. I thought we were pals." Joyously happy I replied, "Of course, we're pals, Lorenzo old boy." "Lend me ten bucks," he said. Before I could open my mouth he went on, "No, don't say it. Let me explain first." I sat back and waited.

"I'm making millions," he began. "The government pays me unemployment insurance. But my cheque hasn't come through. Not until a week from Tuesday do I nick the taxpayers. Then last night a guy stopped me on Yonge St. and asked me for a match. 'Me an' some pals are havin' a little game,' he said. 'We need a fourth. How about you?' There was something about the way he said it so naturally I agreed to go along," continued Lorenzo. "It was fun. He took me to a room, I met the two other fellows and we sat down to a table. Each of us had to give one man $10. He took the money and gave us each a pile of matches. Then they said they were going to play seven-card stud, whatever that is.

"One man would give us each two or three cards," explained my long-lost chum. "Then one of them would put in some of his matches. They explained to me that this was the most important part of the game and that anyone who wanted to play had to put some of his matches in the centre each time. I didn't want to be a poor sport so I put some in every time. This went on for each card until the cards were shuffled again. Finally I ran out of matches, and bought some more. This happened three times. They said my money was for room rent.

"Then," said Lorenzo, "the game broke up about a half-hour ago. They told me they were going to play again tomorrow night, and since I found it interesting I told them I'd play too. They must like the way I play, for one of them came along to look after me, and said he'd see that I got to the game okay. They must figure on the game lasting for a while as one of them told me to bring along an extra shirt. But I think maybe he was joking because he winked at the others when he said it.

"Now," said Lorenzo, "How about the ten bucks. I figure that'll be enough because that room shouldn't cost any more than ten for the night and I intend to speak to the landlord before the game. So how about it, eh?" I didn't know what to say. "C'm on kiddo," he pleaded. "Look, you're my friend, my pal, aren't you?" I nodded hopefully, "Of course, Lorenzo." "And I'm your pal, your friend. Isn't that right?"

"This was more than I could hope for. A friend, a friend, wheeeeee! "You mean I've got

SHARON FORUM

The Sharon Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Weddell. The blustering entry of March as a lion prevented some of the usual members from attending. The subject of the broadcast was "Render Unto Caesar", one of a series on taxation. The forum concerned itself quite largely with the present Sharon school situation. Some of the members intend to go to the county rally which is to take place in King at Mr. Ross Folliott's. The next meeting of the forum will be at Mrs. Newroth's.

a friend?" I whispered hoarsely. "I'm not alone and unwanted, ostracized from the joys of human companionship! Take the ten." I said with tears in my eyes. "Here, take 20." In a flash he had the money in his pocket and was starting towards the door. We shook hands and he promised to let me take him to dinner tomorrow noon. "Thanks, pal," he said as he went out the door. "I'll be back to see you if I need any more dough." I shut the door. "He'll be back. He'll be back," I cried over and over again. "Say! Maybe he'd take me to the game with him!"

CANADIAN PLOWMEN ABROAD

by ELLIOT MOSES ★ Director
ONTARIO PLOWMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Belfast—Since my last letter the boys and I have had a full program, including an international plowing match, sight-seeing in two countries and numerous parties. It is a bit tiring but we are enjoying every minute of it. We have had a grand time in Ireland and now we are on our way back to England where we shall spend a few days before sailing for Canada.

Sight-Seeing in Scotland

Edinburgh is said to be the most beautiful city in the British Isles and it was our privilege to see some of the historical sites. We were accompanied by Mr. T. W. Jack of the Tourists' Association of Scotland.

Machinery Testing Station

From Edinburgh our party went to Glasgow where we saw the Scottish agricultural machinery testing station, just outside the city. The main object of the station as far as we could gather, is to bring machinery from all parts of the manufacturing world and test it for use in Scotland. We were directed through the main building and shown the equipment and testing methods.

Machinery for experimental purposes is submitted on a voluntary basis and the tests are conducted by experts without charge. While we were there implements made in Germany, New Zealand, Australia, United States and Canada were being tested.

En Route to Ireland

The next day we took the train to Stranraer where we caught the boat for Belfast. When we landed in Ireland we were greeted by officials of the Northern Ireland Plowmen's Association. We were particularly pleased to see Peter Fitzpatrick whom we met last autumn when he accompanied the Ulster team to the International Match at Lindsay.

All the visiting plowmen were billeted at the Stroud Hotel at Portstewart and it was quite an experience to sit back and listen to the many different dialects of the English and Scottish people. We almost felt as though we were attending a league of nations' conference so varied were the expressions and ways of speaking. We landed in Ireland two days before the International Match so the boys had a day in which to practise as well as to take part in the usual round of entertainment.

On the morning of the match our party and about 40 English and Scottish plowmen and one contestant from the Isle of Man were taken by bus to the plowing field at Limavady, nearly 40 miles outside Belfast. It had rained all through the night and was still raining as we reached the plowing field which by that time was a sea of mud.

Entries, deliberately restricted to 111 against 128 last year. These included 17 overseas competitors in the horse section and 22 tractor competitors. Competition was keen in every class.

The rules restricted handling to foot work only and this, of course, was new to our boys. However, in spite of this they made a creditable showing and while due to the type of plows used and the manner of scoring, our boys did not win in the regular classes, they were winners in the special visitors' class, with Alvin Mark, the Salada gold medalist, placing first and Bob Timbers and Rhys Bacher, the Esso champions, second and third respectively.

Presentation of Indian War Clubs The annual dinner and presentation of prizes, sponsored by the Northern Ireland Plowmen's Association, was a fitting climax to the match's activities. My particular job on this occasion was to present to each member of the Irish team who visited Canada last year an Indian war club. Last fall the Irishmen had honored us with shillelachs and so we wished to give them some token in exchange. The presentation was unannounced and was one of the highlights of the evening. The program was quite lengthy with toasts, songs and plenty of Irish wit, which we all thoroughly enjoyed.

The evening's entertainment brought to a close for another year the Northern Ireland International Match. Due to bad weather, the association barely made expenses although they conducted a good match. Our boys consider the old country plowmen artists in their particular style of plowing.

IN MEMORIAM

Andrews—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Andrews, who passed away March 6, 1939.
Our dearest one has gone to rest in that bright home above. For Jesus called her to the place of everlasting love.
We loved her much. He loved her best.
And took her to that place of rest. Took her yes, away from us To rest above eternally.
A better mother could not be. She delighted in helping us. Helping us along life's way. Although 'twas not all fun. Her work on earth was done. We never shall forget the day Our dearest one was called away.
Lovingly remembered by her husband, daughters, Velma and Edna and son Cephas.

Foster—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Wilda Foster, who passed away February 28, 1945.
Gone from us, but leaving memories
Death can never take away; Memories that will always linger While upon this earth we stay.
Ever remembered by Bill and family.

Foster—In loving memory of Wilda Winkworth, who passed away February 28, 1945.
Sometimes it's hard to understand Why some things have to be; But in His wisdom God has planned Beyond our power to see; A day of remembrance sadly recalled.
Without farewell she left us all. To be with us in the same old way. Would be our dearest wish today. Lovingly remembered by mom, dad, sisters and brother.

King—In memory of William H. King, who passed away March 6, 1945.
We cannot Lord thy purpose see, But all is well that's done by Thee. Art and Dora.

King—In loving memory of Mr. Wm. King, who passed away March 6, 1945.
One by one they go before us; They are fading like the dew, But we know they're watching o'er us.

They, the good, the fair, the true, They are waiting for us only Where no pain can ever mar, Dear one who left us lonely Watch us through the gates ajar. Ever remembered by wife and family and Frank.

Miller—In sad and loving memory of a dear husband, William David Miller, who passed away 2 years ago March 2, 1947.
My lips cannot tell how I miss him, My heart cannot tell what to say.
God alone knows how I miss him In a home that is lonely today. Wife and son Acll.

Miller—In loving memory of a dear father, William David Miller, who passed away March 2, 1947.
We cannot clasp your hand dear dad, Your face we cannot see, But let this little token Tell that we still remember thee, Ruth, Dave and Lillian.

Sweet—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Sweet, who passed away March 1, 1947.
A silent thought, a secret tear, Keeps his memory ever dear. Time takes away the edge of grief But memory turns back every year.
Ever remembered by his wife and sons, Norman, Donald and Gordon.

Lois McCabe First In P.S. Contest

Newmarket.—Lois McCabe won the public school oratorical contest held last week at the February meeting of the Home and School Association in St. Paul's parish hall. Lois who was also the 1948 winner spoke on "King George VI—George the Good". Second prize went to Charlotte Morton who spoke on "The Circus—P. T. Barnum". Bob Mosley with a humorous talk on "Unpopularity" and Verne Hutchinson speaking on "The Life of a Tree" tied for third place. The judges of the contest were Miss Roberts and Mr. James of the staff of Newmarket high school and Mrs. J. W. Bowman. Mr. H. A. Jackson thanked the public school board for sponsoring the contest and donating the prizes. He stated that 150 boys and girls had competed in speech-making this year with the 13 finalists showing a high calibre of address. The names of the remaining nine contestants were Allan Perks, Katherine LeGood, Shirley Beare, Norma Baker, Betty McArthur, Fay Black, Jean King, Joan Staicue and Barbara Graham.

A great diversity of subject matter added to the enjoyment of the contest which was the best of its type witnessed locally. All the talks were fine. Miss Evelyn Denne, Mr. Sam Jefferson, Mr. F. Hollingsworth and Mr. Jackson deserve much credit for their active encouragement and assistance given the boys and girls.

In announcing the winners the judges emphasized the importance of a conversational voice, appropriate gestures and an easy, relaxed manner if the proper emotional appeal was to be made on the audience. They suggested that the topic be introduced in a short effective way rather than by merely announcing the title. Mrs. M. B. Seddon presented the prizes to the winners on behalf of the board. The importance of being able to speak properly before an audience can not be minimized. It is to be hoped that this keen interest displayed by the school children on Tuesday night will be maintained and encouraged.

The following is the text of the first prize address:

KING GEORGE VI
By LOIS MCCABE

In close succession, Britain has had three kings. First, "George the Doughty", then "Edward the Romantic" and now one who seems to be destined to go down in history's pages as "George the Good". Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, I speak to you this evening on a sketch of the life of George VI, from swaddling clothes to ermine, the youth who never expected to be a monarch.

His Majesty George VI was born on December 14, 1895, York Cottage, Sandringham. He was the second son of then the Duke and Duchess of York and the man who is now on the throne, after the abdication of his elder brother, Edward the VIII. His Majesty was christened Albert Frederick Arthur George, but was called Albert or Bertie in his younger years but elected to be known as King George VI rather than King Albert as a tribute to that beloved monarch, his father, King George V.

As a baby, Albert's life was little different from that of any child in a middle class family. He was a boy of eight or nine when this incident took place. Edward VII, so the story goes, was lunching one day when during the course of the meal Bertie, he shouted, "Grandpa, grandpa!" The king was busy talking and rebuked him saying, "Little boys should be seen and not heard," he quoted, "now don't interrupt me again and don't try to talk to me until lunch is over."

Doesn't Matter Now

Sometime later Edward VII turned to Albert and said, "Now, my boy, what is it?" "Oh, it doesn't matter any more," Bertie replied. "I was going to tell you there was a worm in your salad but you've gone ahead and eaten it."

Albert then as later was the soul of obedience, following orders unquestionably. Yet there were times when he kicked up his heels, usually at the prompting of the more mischievous Edward. Edward or Davey as he was called conceived the idea of hiding on the balcony overlooking the palace ballroom and throwing wet sponges down on the guests. Bertie assisted him valiantly, using a dead fish as one of the missiles.

When he was older, like his father he joined the navy and later became a naval officer, but due to ill health was forced to give up his career in the Royal Navy. When the first world war was in its last months he was much better and in 1918 became a qualified airman and started his association with the air force, becoming a squadron leader a year later.

Popular for Good Works

After the first great war George resumed his studies at Cambridge University. In 1920 he was created Duke of York by his father who had previously held the title. He became very popular with the people by his good works and great interest in boys' camps.

It was announced that he would marry Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore. This took place on April 26, 1923, at Westminster Abbey. After their honeymoon the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth commenced their home life at White Lodge, Richmond Park. A year after, they made a tour of Northern Ireland and later a trip to East Africa.

The next great event of their lives was the birth of their first child on April 21, 1926, when Princess Elizabeth, who is now heir to the throne, was born.

A year after that great event, they left little Elizabeth and sailed on the famous battle cruiser "Renown" for a six-month tour of Australia, New Zealand and lands in the other half of the world.

Three and a half years after the trip to the southern half of the world, Princess Margaret Rose was born on August 21, 1930.

Great Sportsman

Another picture of King George's life shows us that he was a great sportsman. He once played in the championship tennis games. He was also a good horseman, an excellent golfer and a keen shot.

The coronation ceremonies for the King were conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury and for the Queen by the Archbishop of York at Westminster Abbey on May 12, 1937. After the coronation, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth tried to make a better acquaintance with their people and for the first time in history, made several visits to their countries as reigning monarchs. One of these journeys was to Canada in 1939 and one of the others to South Africa.

JUNIOR LADIES' AID

When the second great war broke out, England became a special target of her enemies, but their majesties stayed through thick and thin with their people, even though food was scarce and danger great. Princess Elizabeth joined the army. When this war was over in 1945, Britain was still a war-torn country and the King and Queen readily accommodated their activities and mode of living to existing conditions and trying circumstances.

Like a common person the King gave his elder daughter, Elizabeth, in marriage to Philip Mountbatten on November 20, 1947. King George just recently became the grandfather of Princess Elizabeth's baby, Bonnie Prince Charles.

We can all feel justly proud when, in future months, we take off our hats and cheer, "His Majesty King George VI and his lovely Queen", for above all they are both good sportsmen. So let us take up the cry once more and shout as loudly and loyally as we can—God save the King and Queen.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

WHAT IS A HOUSEWIFE?

Reading an article by Dorothy Thompson the other day on "Housewives" recalled what I had heard a woman say not long ago when asked what her occupation was. For a few moments she looked completely bewildered, then said "The only thing I can do is keep house." "Oh yes, housewife," said the questioner. Afterwards Mrs. Blank said to me, "I never thought of keeping house for my family as an occupation. I thought an occupation was some particular kind of work." When I was asked the same question, the questioner put down "writer" before I had time to either protest or affirm, but I asked him to put housewife too and then I began to ask myself "what is a housewife?" and putting my own ideas and a bit of Dorothy Thompson together, I got this: she is not a person of one occupation, but of so many that combined they make a formidable total and elevate "housewife" to a class by itself.

Combined Everything

It was said of Leonardo da Vinci that he combined in himself a knowledge of more arts and crafts than anyone before or since ever possessed. He painted one of the world's most famous paintings, The Last Supper; he was an authority on the structural classification of plants and on engineering; he discovered the construction of the eye, invented the camera-obscura and the saw which was in use still not so long ago in the marble quarries of Carrara.

Take a good look at da Vinci—he is a hero of mine—and then coming down to our own times and practically, consider the housewife. You'll say she doesn't paint portraits. Well, not on canvas, perhaps, but every housewife is painting pictures every day. Her house is a canvas on which she paints a picture. It may be a cosy picture, a gorgeous picture, a simple picture or even an ugly one, but it is a picture—a home as she thinks a home should be.

Then she is a sculptor. She moulds the character of her children—their young eyes see, their young ears hear, the young lips utter the things which she has put into their forming. She is a teacher for from their mother they absorb her idea of God and of honor, and courtesy and love. She must be an author even if her stories never see print, for there is no mother living who has not had to meet the demand "tell us a story".

Must Be a Cook

A housewife must be a cook—some that I know could have even attained the ranks of chef if their confections had ever extended beyond the home and many housewives are dressmak-

FEDERATION PRESENTS BRIEF

Farmers Fear Depression Ahead Ask Federal Action On Prices

Fearful that depression might follow the unprecedented inflation through which the nation has been passing, Canadian farmers, through the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, have proposed to the dominion cabinet a study of suggested plans for supporting consumer demand for food, and consideration also of a formula for establishing floor prices under farm products.

In its annual presentation of policy to the cabinet at Ottawa, the Federation of Agriculture made recommendations in a number of matters affecting the farming industry, but stressed the need for immediate study and action in the light of threatening collapse of the national economy under a depression that farmers feel might well be infinitely worse than that of the '30's. The delegation was led and the presentation made by H. H. Hannam, president of the Federation.

The Federation urged consideration of a food plan whereby consumer demand for food could be given support, and at the same time expressed its willingness to confer with the government in an effort to establish a formula for fixing floor prices for farm products. The Federation economist, Dr. E. C. Hope, had presented a suggested formula to the recent annual convention at Saskatoon.

THREE BRIEF PERIODS

Said the brief: "In the past 35 years agriculture has only enjoyed three brief periods of prosperity, during World War I, 1925 to 1929 and since 1944. On balance over the years the scales have tipped in favor of urban people. Our present brief period of equality for Canadian agriculture is threatened by international complications of trade and currencies."

"Today there are two great problems or dangers which confront Canadian agriculture and our economy as a whole. The first is the imminent danger of severe deflation which would bring about a much sharper fall in the prices received by farmers than in the prices paid by farmers. The second problem is the future breakdown in international trade at the end of the present period of American financial aid to Europe, unless by that time exchange difficulties are ironed out and trade is restored on a broad multi-lateral basis."

MARKETING LEGISLATION

The Federation once again pressed the government for federal marketing legislation. The need was now more than ever apparent, said the Federation, for some federal act which would supplement provincial legislation now in effect in almost every province, and would make it possible for marketing schemes now in operation in various provinces to deal with products in interprovincial and export trade.

GRAIN MARKETING

The brief commended the Canadian government for its continued efforts to bring about an international wheat agreement and urged further action along the same line. It also asked that when final adjustment is made in the British wheat agreement, producers be settled with for wheat sold in the domestic market at a price not less than the average price under the U.K. agreement.

The Federation again urged the placing of coarse grain marketing under the wheat board, in accordance with the resolution passed at the Federation annual meeting. The brief also asked that the freight assistance policy on feed grains shipped from western provinces to eastern Canada be retained as a permanent feature of agricultural policy.

ASK APPEAL OF MARGARINE DECISION

The Federation urged the government to appeal the decision of the supreme court respecting margarine, because of the serious lack of agreement among the judges in rendering the decision and also because of the uncertainty the decision has created in respect to agricultural legislation in the federation field and the future of federal jurisdiction in handling of agricultural policies.

The brief asked that, in the event the decision of the court was upheld and manufacture and sale of margarine continues, that the dairy industry receive the same consideration under customs tariff regulations (with respect to the importation of ingredients for margarine) that industry in general in Canada now receives.

The brief emphasized that if the present capacity for making of margarine in Canada, namely 120 million lbs. yearly, were reached and this amount marketed in Canada it would offer a serious threat to the dairy industry, and upset the economic position of a million rural people.

The brief further asked that in order to prevent confusion, fraud and deception, the yellow color of butter be reserved for that product and that substitutes be prevented from use of that color, respecting the sale, or serving of such substitutes.

The brief asked for assurance of a floor price for butter for five years that 62 cents wholesale be the floor price for 1949, this being considerably lower than the price established by the butter markets in 1948; that the price be reviewed each year but not more than five percent change in any one year.

INCOME TAX

The brief commended the government for adopting the basic herd principle for the livestock industry, but strongly condemned regulations for establishing basic herds as devised by the income tax department, and recently announced, as being entirely impractical and unsatisfactory in their application to the livestock industry, particularly with respect to those producers who had built up their herds by natural increase.

The Federation also asked an increase in the general exemption for all single persons to $1,200 and for all married persons to $2,400.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Commending the work of P.F.R.A. and P.F.A.A. in the prairie provinces, the brief urged application of similar benefits to all parts of Canada, and urged adoption of a strong national soil conservation program, commending the program of the Agricultural Institute to the government for study.

PUBLIC RADIO

The cabinet was told that the Federation was firm in its continued support of public ownership and operation of public radio in Canada, and urged the government to permit no change in or interference with the present system in Canada. The brief deplored over-commercialism in radio and the efforts of some private interests to gain control of networks for their own benefit.

Test for old age pensions, restoration of government annuity

Other recommendations included abolition of the means rates to levels existing before April, 1948; increases in compensation for T.B. reactors in cattle herds; greater research in livestock diseases and greater effort to overcome the serious shortage in veterinarians in the carrying out of Health of Animals program in Canada.

Archie McKenzie Resigns To Operate Own Farm

Newmarket — After over two years of outstanding service as assistant agricultural representative in York county, Archie L. McKenzie ended his connection with the Ontario department of agriculture Feb. 28 to achieve an ambition which has been his for some years. Mr. McKenzie is leaving the field of agricultural extension to start farming for himself this spring at St. Paul's, near Stratford, in Perth county.

On graduating from the Ontario Agricultural College as a class mate of two former York county assistant representatives, Jim Moore and Oliver Dalrymple, Archie served in the navy with a commission and came to York county early in 1947 where he has made a host of friends. While he has been working largely on the Junior Farmer and boys' club work, he has assisted with a considerable amount of the senior work in a most creditable manner.

According to his immediate chief, W. M. Cockburn, Archie has carried out remarkably constructive programs in calf and grain club work and climaxed these projects with coaching high ranking teams in the provincial inter-club contests both years. In 1947, his Markham Calf Club team placed second by only two points out of 1,200 marks with 51 teams competing, and in 1948 another team from the same club was third out of 51 teams, being only nine marks behind the winners.

In the grain club contests he got his Woodbridge team into second place in 1947 out of 32 teams and this year his team won the provincial contest in a field of 28 teams. This team later competed in the national contests at the Royal Winter Fair where out of 1,200 marks they were only 3 1/2 marks behind Manitoba.

His pleasant personality and enthusiasm has been an inspiration to the Junior Farmers who have looked to him for guidance and as an example. They are going to miss Archie very much but are inspired to learn that he is joining the ranks of the tillers of the soil. During the past year he has given considerable leadership as the first secretary.

Three of our girls, Misses Ruth and Joyce Sleeth and Betty Richardson, are members of this choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Moynihan spent Sunday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright, Aurora, spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. A. Wright.

Mrs. Jack Baber, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wise, Burlington, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Baber.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fines, Aurora, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Baber.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Richardson visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Davidson, Bradford.

Miss Ruth Sleeth, Vandorf, and Clare Eves, Queensville, were chosen to take part on the Junior Farmers' program from Hamilton. They presented a short skit.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Addison and children of Orillia are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant.

Mr. Fred Grant attended the funeral of his uncle, Mr. Harry Baskerville, of Oro, Ont.

Miss Audrey Switzer spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Switzer.

A A thirteenth of the earth's crust is aluminum. It is found in mountains and gems, in vegetables and clay, in meat and water — practically everywhere.

L Long ago the Romans knew it as a salt. They called it "alumen" and used it as a medicine or for dyeing cloth.

U Until the middle 1800's, the metal aluminum was rarer and more costly than gold. Napoleon III had his own personal tableware made of it.

M Modern science found a way to make it cheaper. That is why, today, everybody can buy useful and lasting articles made of aluminum.

I In Canada we have none of the high-grade aluminum ore called "bauxite". Canadians bring it in by shipload from British Guiana — a voyage of 3000 miles.

N Northeastern Canada has the world's largest aluminum smelter. Alcan built it there, at Arvida. This site was chosen because it is close to both a port for ocean ships bringing bauxite and an abundant source of hydro-electric power.

U Until Alcan harnessed this water power, it ran to waste. Smelting aluminum needs vast supplies of power. The electricity required to produce one ton of aluminum would light your house for fifteen years.

M More than 15,000 people operate this Canadian industry. They earn more than thirty-five million dollars a year. These earnings flow across Canada.

Alcan (Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.) makes aluminum ingots. More than 1000 independent manufacturers across Canada shape aluminum into light, strong, non-rusting articles for your use. The variety grows daily.

In addition to supplying these firms, Alcan sells about 85% of its ingots to other countries. This aluminum is now Canada's sixth largest export, a source of much needed money from abroad.

Because Alcan does market so much abroad, it is able to make aluminum in such large quantities that, in ingot form, it can be purchased more cheaply in Canada than anywhere else in the world.

Scouts, Guides Parade To St. Paul's Church

Newmarket—The Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs, the Girl Guides and Brownies attended the morning service at St. Paul's Anglican church last Sunday. Cubmaster Bertram Budd read the second lesson, taken from Ephesians 6: 10 to 17. The rector, Rev. James Rhodes, gave a stirring address, holding their attention throughout. He based his talk on the words, "And they with one accord began to make excuse." In the evening the rector stressed the meaning of Lent, which began yesterday, Ash Wednesday, calling in church members to exercise self-discipline. There was a special service of intercession in the church yesterday evening to mark the opening of the Lenten season.
On Wednesday evening of last week, the Woman's Auxiliary held a social evening at the home of Mrs. A. E. Revill, Arden Ave., when they presented their retiring Dorcas secretary, Mrs. W. Bacon, with a beautiful red morocco prayer and hymn book in appreciation of her long and faithful service. Mrs. Bacon has held the office of Dorcas secretary for 37 years. The Woman's Auxiliary will, as always, hold a chain of prayer tomorrow to mark the Women's World Day of Prayer. Starting early in the morning, different members will take periods of 15 minutes each, keeping the chain of prayer intact until they all attend the united service in the appointed church at 3 o'clock.
Last Sunday, at the Anglican children's Sunday-school of the church, over C.F.R.B. at 9:30, Bishop Beverley gave the talk. He also took the subject of using the season of Lent to acquire self-discipline. Next Thursday the Woman's Auxiliary will have as guest speaker Mrs. Andrew who will tell of her work as missionary to China, at 3 p.m. in the parish hall. The members of W.A. branches of the deanery have been invited to be present. All are welcome.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Donny, 12 years, and Larry, 10 years, are brothers; but their dispositions and behavior are seemingly unrelated.
How many boys in the same family and in the same environment could be such opposites seems almost impossible. Donny has always been the serious, more thoughtful and careful type. His parents have every right to be proud of his behavior.
Then along came Larry to squelch all their theories. Larry's mind can't be harnessed and kept in a groove. His actions are unpredictable.
Whereas Donny can be steered away from trouble and recognizes it as something to be avoided, Larry, seemingly, has to find out everything for himself.
Larry investigates "Danger" signs. It's as if he tries to disprove warnings by walking on thin ice, touching wet paint, playing with fire, etc. As a result, Larry is always in some kind of trouble and has experienced every form of punishment known to his parents, his relatives and the neighbors.
The marvel is that Larry has lived this long. However, if he lives to become a parent himself and has an unruly offspring as he is proving to be—it is to be hoped that his own spirit for adventure has not been entirely squelched.
It isn't difficult to make a companion of a child, who responds to reason. However, fathers and mothers, who have adventurous children, should exert themselves to make companions of them, too. Children can be led by adults directly into dangers in such a way that a rescue can be made by them after the children have experienced enough peril to satisfy their curiosity.
Despite the fact that Donny and Larry are brothers, their dispositions and behavior are very different. Success in adjusting these two boys to happy, useful living depends on treating them individually—with respect for their individual differences.

Meteors 1 Down In Overtime Final

In Weston the song of the day is "Powder Your Face with Sunshine" and winger Jimmy Gray is the pride of Main St. In Aurora the junior hockey season may be ended for '49 but the Meteors are "Sweethearts Forever" so far as district hockey fans are concerned.

After 70 minutes and 32 seconds of tense, epic hockey on Tuesday night at Barrie before over 1,300 roaring fans, Weston juniors got the break that spelled victory as Jimmy Gray put the puck past Dougie Moore on a ganging play with Aurora short-handed. It was one of those things that happen in as even a series as that staged by two crack junior teams. One goal difference in 200 minutes of hockey emphasizes that these two teams were as like in ability as two peas in a pod. There wasn't a weak link in either team, and while there are those who believe that referee Jack Dobson erred in sending Billy Attridge to the box in the dying moments of the second overtime period for alleged hooking, it stays in the records. Dobson and Bill Long handled a difficult assignment well over the evening, and it will always be difficult with the chips down to please the entire crowd on hand.

Laurie Thoms started Aurora off in the first period as he blasted a terrific shot at Chard which bounced home off the netminder's pads. Weston put on the heat and Moore played terrific hockey, finally being beaten by Ted Downer who cashed in Frank Stephenson's perfect pass. Bill Attridge on one of the sweetest efforts of the year put Aurora ahead at 17:38 as he combined with Bill McGhee. Stephenson received a gash in the chin that required 17 stitches in an accident but gamely came back to play a hard game. The penalties were divided evenly at two each.

Ted Downer put on a dazzling display in the second period as he scored twice. The first came at 9:52 as he clicked on Goodwin's razzle-dazzle pass from deep in Aurora territory. Gray gave the relay for the other at 12:50. Despite two Weston goals Aurora was equally as good but couldn't find the range. Aurora drew three penalties to two for Weston, the second Weston goal coming with Weston having the odd-man advantage.

Once again it was the "Dynamite Kid" Laurie Thoms, who put Aurora on even terms with a mighty effort at 5:05, captain Jack Andrews getting a well-earned assist. Willie Gallagher, a converted forward for the series, put Weston ahead again at 5:27 as Jerry Goodwin led the attack from the face-off. For close to 10 minutes Aurora stormed the Weston goal unsuccessfully, and it looked as if they would never make it. Attridge again came through with flying colors as he teamed with Laurie Thoms to knot the count at 19:18. Aurora fans went wild.

Both teams had good chances in the first overtime period and both had a penalty each to add to the excitement. In the second overtime session, Gallagher drew a penalty and Aurora just missed on their ganging effort. Attridge drew a penalty in the dying moments and Weston got the break that won the game.

For Aurora, Moore played a great game in goal, and the defencemen were good both defensively and offensively. Up front, Thoms and Attridge had a bit of the edge in brilliance but everyone gave a full performance. It was unfortunate that Simmons and Ross, who have played stalwart hockey all season, should have been forced to play under wraps through injuries in the final two games.

Downer, Gray, Goodwin and Calhoun were the four top performers for Weston. Downer and Calhoun have been two of the big stars of the entire series, and Goodwin along with Gallagher chose this game timely enough to play their best hockey of the series. Chard played an excellent game in the nets.

Weston now meets Unionville in the group finals and on their showing should reign as favorites. In the time-honored words of hockey "It was a great game to win, a tough one to lose. All credit to the game, hard-fighting youngsters on both teams, who really played hockey as it should be played and revived all the glories of Canada's winter sport.

Newmarket, Aurora Split Honors in Minors

Newmarket and Aurora split the honors about even in a full evening of minor hockey at the Aurora Arena Monday evening. The teams put on a twin bill. Newmarket, Midgets, sticking more closely to their vitamin diet, racked up a 7-2 win. It was turnabout in the late contest as Aurora bounced our juveniles by a 7-4 count.

Ivan Bray led the Newmarket Midgets with a pair of tallies. Grant Morton, "Mickey" Barker, John DeLafayette, Jack Staley and Stan Pollard fired home single counters. Aurora was the better side in the juvenile counter. Only the scoring of "Spike" Cain and Dave Couch, who split our production of four between them, kept the Lions in the hunt.

Spits Meet Sutton Here Tonight

Sutton "Greenshirts," living up to their season's record of no losses at home, turned back the Spitfires 7-3 Monday to give the Greenshirts a one-game lead in the best two-of-three series for the championship. Sutton held an edge that showed up on the score-board in each semester. The Spitfires were outscored in every frame, 2-1, 3-1, and 2-1.

The main difference between the teams was the way the Greenshirts snapped up every opportunity presented to them. Three times they took full advantage of the red-line to get into the clear. Each time that happened they had a goal, and it wasn't Joe Tunney's fault. The Spitfires didn't lack opporunities. In the third period, their best, they lifted 14 shots at Bob Winch for one goal from an unassisted effort by Myles McInnis. Sutton had eight drives at Joe Tunney, two ending in the twine.

Myles McInnis promoted most of the goal scoring with a pair of unassisted efforts, both requiring some neat work to get into firing range. Bill Mabelt, with wing-mate Stan Gibbons relaying the pass, slapped home the first tally at the half-way mark of the initial session.

Cros, Brady, Ken Davie and Geo. Holborn were the main goal-getters for the winners with a pair each. Bruce MacMillan put the seventh and final counter on the record sheets.

Ellis Pringle was again a main stumbling block on the Spitfires' road into the Sutton territory.

Keswick Midgets Do 'The Impossible'

Playing at Cannington a week ago Wednesday, Keswick's Midget C hockey club defeated Orono 12-11 on the round after two ten-minute overtime sessions. The Keswick kids had been defeated the night before, on the short end of a 9-2 score at Orono. Keswick had eliminated Woodville in the first round play of their C group.

At the start of the Cannington game, Orono had a seven-point lead but when the 60 minutes were up, Keswick had made the score 9-2 tying the round 11-11. The second ten-minute overtime period saw Sullivan put in the winning shot. Alf Marritt, the Keswick goalie, stopped a shot with his eye at two seconds to go and one of the forwards took his place.

Keswick goals were by Bill Henry, McGlaughlin from Sullivan, Whitney from Huntley, Beatty, McGlaughlin from Ash, Ash from Sullivan, Sullivan from Ash, Ash from Sullivan, Ash from Beatty and Sullivan. For Orono, Middleton and Gil-

'Hornets' Champions In Pee-Wee League

By virtue of an unassisted second period scoring thrust engineered by Billy Cain, the only goal of the game, Pittsburgh "Hornets" are today champions of the American "Pee-Wee" League. The Hornets and Hershey "Bears" battled for the championship Monday evening. The Hornets, leading their league all down through the Saturday morning sessions, are worthy champions. They had to be at their best to hold the Bears in this final game.

Line-up: Pittsburgh "Hornets," goal, B. Sweeney; defence, C. McGuire, M. Bales; centre, B. Wilson; wings, M. Moffatt, S. Bondi; alternates, H. Vandenberg, W. Townsley, B. Cain, M. Flicker, D. Jackson. Hershey "Bears," goal, R. Dick; defence, J. Lane, D. Creed; centre, D. McKnight; wings, K. Dow, H. Burling; alternates, J. Galbraith, D. Purcell, J. Rich, D. Johnston, D. Sutton, J. Hope; referee, F. Hollingsworth; linesman, D. Forhan.

It was discovered Sunday afternoon that 11 cottages near Vivian had been broken into and rifled during the past two weeks. Apparently the work of a well-organized gang, the cottages were stripped of all stoves and sinks.

Canadiens Beat Hawks For Bantam Triumph

Tuesday evening, in conjunction with "Tom Kirk Night," Montreal Canadiens surprised even their most ardent supporters by annexing the championship with an upset victory over the winter long league leaders, Chicago Black Hawks. Chief upstater was centre ice pivot Bob Forhan who sparked the Canadiens. Bobbie sniped for three goals, one unassisted, and the other pair with Paul Smith and Bob Broadbent. Broadbent as well as earning an assist took a pass from Bob Forhan on his first marker and sank a second on his own.

Bob Attwell with Bob Hodgins and Bob Bell popped home the Hawks' first marker. Glen Kefter and Bob Bell shortly after the final chapter got underway slapped in two quickies to make it interesting down to the final bell.

Line-up: Canadiens: goal, G. Langford; defence, B. Gabel, D. Hines; centre, B. Forhan; wings, B. Broadbent, J. Cassavoy; alternates, J. Saunders, P. Smith, R. Scott, F. Wheeler; Black Hawks: goal, G. Morton; defence, B. Armstrong, B. Beaudoin; centre, B. Attwell; wings, B. Bell, B. Hodgins; alternates, A. Perks, B. Mair, G. Kefter. referee: Grant Blight.

Spitfires Eliminate Aurora In Series 6-1

No more they'll beat the drum. For they've gone to kingdom come. By they, of course, we mean Aurora intermediate hockey hopefuls. The Spitfires washed them out with an impressive 6-1 triumph. The fans, a bit down from those past two home performances of the Spits, went away in a happy frame of mind Thursday. While much of the expected fire works failed to materialize over 1,000 fans enjoyed the set-to. The ice could have been better, but considering the sharp rise of the thermometer during the afternoon it was surprisingly good.

Vets Sports Day, Draw To Finance Pilgrimage

Newmarket—The Newmarket Veterans' Association is desirous to make it clear that the organization alone is sponsoring the sports day in Newmarket on June 18 when a car will be driven away by some lucky person. All proceeds will be used for only Veterans' work and to defray expenses incurred on June 19, when they will be holding their second annual pilgrimage here.

It is estimated approximately 2,000 veterans will be on parade on June 19. Canadian Corps units are expected from as far west as London and the Niagara peninsula and east to Kingston. Col. Sidney Lambert, well-known padre, has been invited as one of the guests, as well as Major-General Chris. Vokes and high ranking representatives of the navy and airforce. Major the Reverend J. Foote, M.P.P., V.C., will not be able to be present this year.

Pine Orchard Wins Place in Finals

Pine Orchard earned its way into the finals of the Stouffville community league Thursday. Serving up another fine brand of hockey, they dumped Stouffville by a 6-4 count. The two games, goals to count series, going to the Orchard sextet by an 11-5 margin. Bun Hood with four tallies, Barney Bishop and Roy Smalley with singletons were the sharpshooters for the winners. Grant Blight, playing in the Pine Orchard twin-bungalow, turned in a bang-up performance. Pine Orchard now tackle the Bringham-Claremont Combines for the league crown.

A little bird told me
We're going to have an artificial ice plant,
And I believe that it's true.

No, I didn't dream that one. It's a fact. The discussions have finished. March 7 opens the drive to raise the necessary funds to install a freeze plant in our memorial arena. If that doesn't make us hockey liberts sit up and take notice, then nothing will. The recreation commission, and ways and means committee headed by Fred Thompson, Frank Courtney and Art Lord are co-operating and ready for their part of the burden. Dig, dig, dig, all we need is the do re me. Let's make it as it should be, a community project. Everybody with their shoulders to the wheel.

Hockey men and hockey players! Yours must and should be a leading part of the drive. Get together right now, no delay please, and give us the biggest hang-up shindig that ever hit the canal town. Tall order, sure, but we must prove to one and all we're ready to assume our share of the campaign. What better way than by doing what we know best. Had a thought one night. Saw Bill Thoms, "Joint" McComb, Herb Cain, "Scotty" Mair, Don Willson, Ellis Pringle, "Dodger" Collings, Sonny Townsley, Larry Molyneux all back out there doing their stuff. Believe me, I don't think there is one that wouldn't step up behind you to help the cause.

Cleaning the decks for action. Climax of a big week for the Metro loop coppers. Spitfires and Greenshirts are toeing the mark. The odds are with the Greenshirts. They came through the season with one loss. Play-offs are something else again. Our back-checkers may be working overtime and find a formula to combat the extra scoring punch packed by the Greenshirts. A side issue which may possibly have escaped the notice of a majority of the fans is that regardless of the outcome of the trolley league fun the Spitfires carry on in intermediate A O.H.A. and Sutton in B. Likely opposition for the Spits is Parry Sound.

A buzz of congrats before the hockey armament is chucked into the hall closet to Harold Rogers, "Dinty" Moore, Stew Patrick, Bill Mitchell, Jack Bowser, Sr. and Jr., of Aurora's black and gold, coming in late, few practices, wound up with a scrappy side giving all comers a battle. Out of season note: Flash, flash! "Peaches" VanZant and "Ceegars" McDonald had their heads together and, of all places, at the arena. Tried not to hear but caught, as they both held me down, something like "bigger and better softball team, floodlights" and it did sound like "the only serving alderman to catch softball in town". It did, so help me, seem to come out like that.

Newmarket Vets Bowlers Lose To Thorold

In a challenge match by Thorold Canadian Corps bowlers, Newmarket Vets went down to defeat four games to two last Saturday at Thorold. Nevertheless, the local Vets are confident of trimming the Grapevines when they return the visit.

"Ceegars" MacDonald's team with Hisey, Woolven and Smalley took one game out of the three against their opponents while Hutchinson's quartet with Dillman, Ruddock and Vandenberg finished with one win out of three. The local bowlers felt the Thorold alleys too keen for them but it could have been too much cigar smoke. Apologies are due to Bert Ward who had great expectations in Newmarket Vets' alley ability. They promise Bert the tables will be turned when Thorold make their appearance here.

Australia's population now exceeds 7½ million.

East Conquers West In Hectic Battle

Monday evening the east met the west in one of the wildest games ever witnessed in the Aurora arena. What the players lacked in condition they made up with their fighting spirit, butt ends, knees, elbows and sundry items. The game, which didn't start until nearly 10 p.m., lasted until after midnight. Only one serious injury was reported, and that by Frank Caruso who had a nasty gash opened in his head when he tried to pick the puck up with his teeth. There were, of course, the usual number of charley horses to be expected in a game where skill was secondary. The following day the various members of the two teams could be easily picked out by the way they limped.

As to the score, the less said about that the better, at least according to the west. The west led for most of the game and at one time were around three or four goals ahead of the east. However, penalties, liberally handed out by referee Red Mitchell, were the straw that broke the camel's hump, and the east drew even with the west by the end of the third period. Overtime was played, the first goal to count. The east, taking advantage of the injury-ridden west, netted the biscuit after only a minute or two of overtime (goalie Don Holman was busy at the time flicking ashes off his cigaret and claimed he didn't notice the puck). This gave the game to the east, 9 to 8.

The west feel that they were robbed and are talking of filing an appeal to have the game quashed. They feel that the overtime was unofficial and should not count. To settle the problem, Red Mitchell has promised to stage another game
